

Top Tips - What should I offer my child at meals and snack time?

Carbohydrates

Protein

Fruit/Vegetable

Try to serve at least one of each of these types of food at every meal and snack time.

At least one of these needs to be a 'safe' food that your child will easily eat.

Serve the 'safe' food with the food that the rest of the family are having. This way everyone will have some of the 'safe' food, your child will also have some of all the other foods that are served.

Protein- such as:

Other examples: Milk, yoghurt, turkey, soya, tofu, lentils, chickpeas

Carbohydrates or Starch- such as:

Other examples: Rice, oats, cous cous, spinach

Fruit and/or vegetable- such as:

Fruit examples: Banana, apple, pear, orange, berries, mango, grapes

Vegetable examples: carrot, cucumber, tomato, parsnip, pepper
