I. What is the Gender Pay Gap report?

Recent gender pay reporting legislation now requires employers with 250 or more employees to publish statutory calculations every year showing how large the pay gap is between their male and female employees. There are two sets of regulations. The first is mainly for the private and voluntary sectors (taking effect from 5 April 2019) and the second is mainly for the public sector (taking effect from 31 March 2017). For NHS Trusts this means providing a 'snapshot' of ordinary pay differences on 31st March 2019 and bonus payments made during the year.

The results must be published on the employer's website and a government website. They must, where applicable, be confirmed in a written statement by an appropriate person, such as a chief executive. While employers may already be taking steps to improve gender equality and reduce or eliminate their gender pay gap, this process will support and encourage action.

Gender pay reporting is different to equal pay; equal pay deals with the pay differences between men and women who carry out the same jobs, similar jobs or work of equal value. It is unlawful to pay people unequally because they are a man or a woman.

The gender pay gap shows the difference in the average pay between all men and women in a workforce. If a workforce has a particularly high gender pay gap, this can indicate there may a number of issues to deal with, and the individual calculations may help to identify what those issues are.

The NHS terms and conditions of service handbook contain the national agreements on pay and conditions of service for NHS staff other than very senior managers and medical staff.

Job evaluation enables jobs to be matched to national job profiles or allows trusts to evaluate jobs locally, to determine in which Agenda for Change pay band a post should sit.

II. Exclusions

We have excluded the following from our calculations:

Elements related to: Salary sacrifice

Arrears

III. The Gender Pay Gap Indicators

An employer must publish six calculations showing:

- i. Average gender pay gap as a mean average
- ii. Average gender pay gap as a median average
- iii. Average bonus gender pay gap as a mean average
- iv. Average bonus gender pay gap as a median average
- v. Proportion of males receiving a bonus payment and proportion of females receiving a bonus payment
- vi. Proportion of males and females when divided into four groups ordered from lowest to highest pay
